

Creative Newsletter – April 2023.

I have been working on my second spy novelette and am nearly half way through finishing it. I will be adding colour AI images and I might also produce a comic book version too.

I have started another Novelette and am already half way through finishing that too.

I'm still working on my comic book making guide and will soon be putting it all together ready to publish.

